Division 3—Guarantee of annual earnings

2.13 High Income threshold

- (1) For subsection 333(1) of the Act, this regulation sets out the manner in which the high income threshold is to be worked out.

Note: For the high income threshold for the purposes of subsection 333F(2) of the Act (about exceptions to fixed term contract limitations), see regulation 2.14.

- (2) The high income threshold for the period starting on 1 July 2009 and ending at the end of 30 June 2010 is worked out using the following steps.

First indexation

- Step 1 Identify the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician for February 2008 and in effect on 1 July 2008.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

- Step 2 Divide it by the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician for May 2007 and in effect on 27 August 2007.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

- Step 3 Round the result to 3 decimal places. If the fourth decimal place is 5 or above, round it up. If the rounded result is less than 1, the rounded result becomes 1.

Multiply $100 000 by the rounded result.

If the result is not a multiple of $100, round the result to the nearest multiple of $100. If the result is a multiple of $50, round it up to the next multiple of $100.

This result will be indexed again in step 6.

Second indexation

- Step 4 Identify the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician for February 2009 and in effect on 1 July 2009.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

- Step 5 Divide it by the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician for February 2008 and in effect on 1 July 2008.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

- Step 6 Round the result to 3 decimal places. If the fourth decimal place is 5 or above, round it up. If the rounded result is less than 1, the rounded result becomes 1.

Multiply the amount worked out in step 3 by the rounded result.

If the result is not a multiple of $100, round the result to the nearest multiple of $100. If the result is a multiple of $50, round it up to the next multiple of $100.

The result is the high income threshold for the period starting on 1 July 2009 and ending at the end of 30 June 2010.

Regulation 2.13

- (3) The high income threshold for the year starting on 1 July 2010, or a later year starting on 1 July, is the threshold for the previous year, indexed using the following steps.

Step 1 Identify the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician and in effect on 1 July in the current year.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

Step 2 Divide it by the assessment of current average weekly ordinary time earnings published by the Australian Statistician and in effect on 1 July of the previous year.

Note: This is the amount of the average weekly ordinary time earnings, seasonally adjusted, for full-time adult employees of all employees in Australia for that day.

Step 3 Round the result to 3 decimal places. If the fourth decimal place is 5 or above, round it up. If the rounded result is less than 1, the rounded result becomes 1.

Multiply the high income threshold for the previous year by the rounded result.

If the result is not a multiple of $100, round the result to the nearest multiple of $100. If the result is a multiple of $50, round it up to the next multiple of $100.

The result is the high income threshold for the year starting on 1 July.

Note: Under section 382 of the Act, a person is protected from unfair dismissal if specified circumstances apply. One of the circumstances is that the sum of the person's annual rate of earnings, and such other amounts (if any) worked out in relation to the person in accordance with the regulations, is less than the high income threshold.

Schedule 2.1—Notice of employee representational rights

(regulation 2.05)

Fair Work Act 2009, subsection 174(1A)

[Name of employer] gives notice that it is bargaining in relation to a single-enterprise agreement ([name of the proposed single-enterprise agreement]) which is proposed to cover employees that [proposed coverage].

What is a single-enterprise agreement?

A single-enterprise agreement is an agreement between an employer and its employees that will be covered by the agreement that sets the wages and conditions of those employees for a period of up to 4 years. To come into operation, the agreement must be supported by a majority of the employees who cast a vote to approve the agreement and it must be approved by an independent authority, Fair Work Commission.

If you are an employee who would be covered by the proposed agreement:

You have the right to appoint a bargaining representative to represent you in bargaining for the agreement or in a matter before the Fair Work Commission that relates to bargaining for the agreement.

You can do this by notifying the person in writing that you appoint that person as your bargaining representative. You can also appoint yourself as a bargaining representative. In either case you must give a copy of the appointment to your employer.

If you are a member of a union that is entitled to represent your industrial interests in relation to the work to be performed under the agreement, your union will be your bargaining representative for the agreement unless you appoint another person as your representative.

[If the employee is covered by an individual agreement—include:]

If you are an employee covered by an individual agreement:

If you are currently covered by an individual agreement (Australian Workplace Agreement (AWA), pre-reform AWA, individual transitional employment agreement (ITEA), preserved individual State agreement or individual Division 2B State employment agreement), you may appoint a bargaining representative for the enterprise agreement.

Individual agreements automatically sunset at the end of 6 December 2023, unless an application to extend the agreement is made to the Fair Work Commission.

Individual agreements can also be terminated or a conditional termination can be made (which provides that if an enterprise agreement is approved, it will apply to you and your individual agreement will terminate).

Questions?

If you have any questions about this notice or about enterprise bargaining, please speak to your employer or bargaining representative, or contact the Fair Work Ombudsman or the Fair Work Commission.

Legislation history and amendment history—Endnotes 3 and 4

Amending laws are annotated in the legislation history and amendment history.

The legislation history in endnote 3 provides information about each law that has amended (or will amend) the compiled law. The information includes commencement details for amending laws and details of any application, saving or transitional provisions that are not included in this compilation.

The amendment history in endnote 4 provides information about amendments at the provision (generally section or equivalent) level. It also includes information about any provision of the compiled law that has been repealed in accordance with a provision of the law.

Editorial changes

The Legislation Act 2003 authorises First Parliamentary Counsel to make editorial and presentational changes to a compiled law in preparing a compilation of the law for registration. The changes must not change the effect of the law. Editorial changes take effect from the compilation registration date.

If the compilation includes editorial changes, the endnotes include a brief outline of the changes in general terms. Full details of any changes can be obtained from the Office of Parliamentary Counsel.

Misdescribed amendments

A misdescribed amendment is an amendment that does not accurately describe how an amendment is to be made. If, despite the misdescription, the amendment can be given effect as intended, then the misdescribed amendment can be incorporated through an editorial change made under section 15V of the Legislation Act 2003.

If a misdescribed amendment cannot be given effect as intended, the amendment is not incorporated and “(md not incorp)” is added to the amendment history.
